Section 7. Description

Condition: Altered
Date: ca. 1890

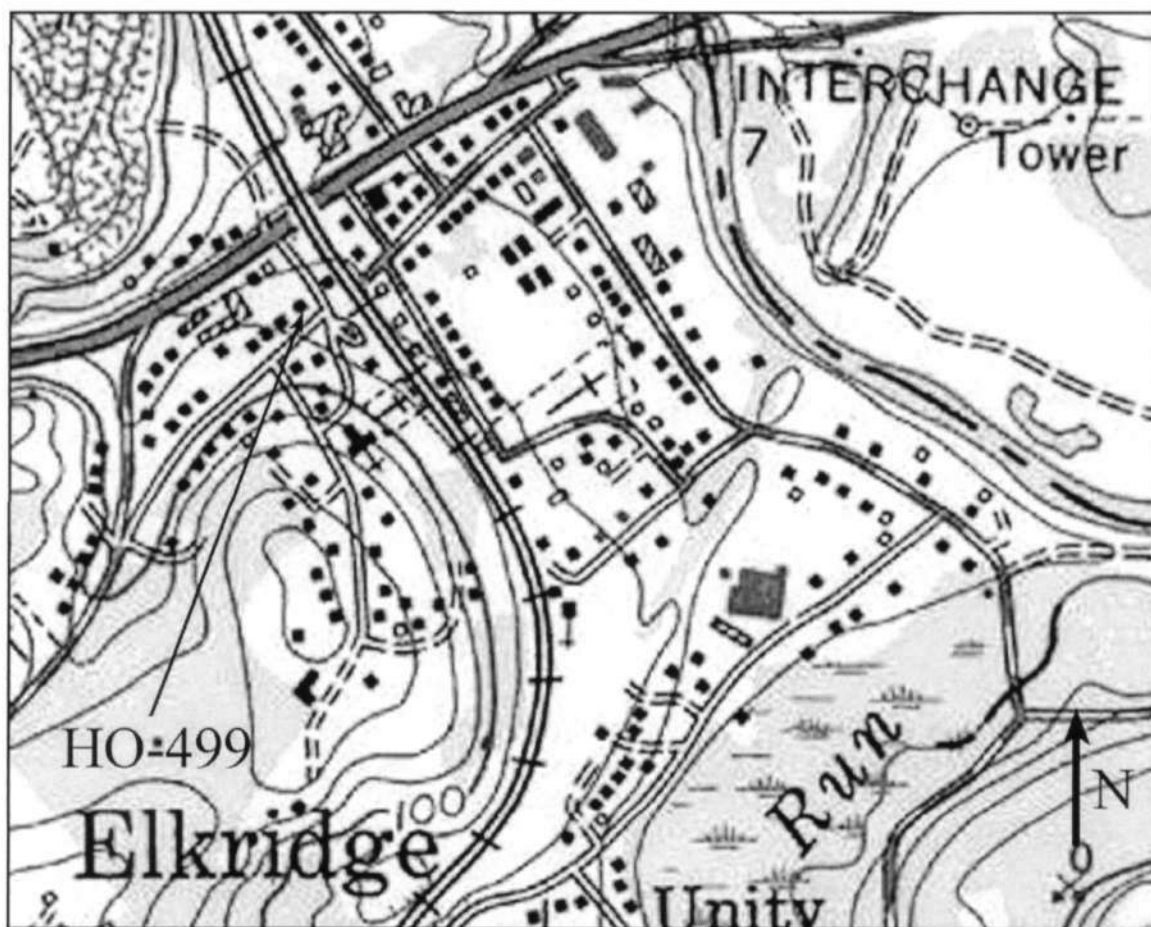

This building was originally a two story frame gable and wing dwelling, probably constructed around 1890. Several frame additions were made to the rear of the building, and during the early 20th century a one story brick storefront was added to the front. The building faces south on the northwest corner of Main and Brumbaugh Streets. For many years this was the Elkridge Pharmacy. Many of the original 2/2 windows in the frame part of the building were in the process of being replaced with 1/1 vinyl units at the time of the survey. The one story brick storefront extends approximately six feet from the front of the original frame building and wraps around the western façade. It has one large fixed glass shop window, two 6/6 windows and two doors. It is built of running bond brick and has a flat parapetted roof. The original frame part of the building is covered with green painted shingles and the roof is covered with asphalt shingles. The building is in good condition and part of it is in use as a doctor's office. The original form states that this building may date to 1817, but no physical evidence is cited for such an early date and it seems unlikely. It is more probable that this building replaced an earlier building on the same lot.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Elkridge Pharmacy faces south on the northwest corner of Brumbaugh and Main Streets, Elkridge. It is a two bay wide, one bay deep, two story high, gabled roof (running east-west) frame shingled green building with two bay wide, two bay deep, two story high, intersecting gable roof (running north-south) shingled frame east wing whose entire north wall (composed of the two sections) there extends two identically scaled, two story high, one bay wide, one bay deep, intersecting gabled roof (running north-south) frame appendages, whose east side has been constructed in such a way as to reveal the two sections, whose roofs do not extend into one another but are clearly separate, resting beside one another. One story high, shed roofed, frame appendages rest along the twin gabled buildings' north walls and along the west wall of the main section of the building. A tall square brick chimney rises from the center of the south wall of the west gable addition, while an open wooden staircase runs up along the west side of the one-story high appendage to a second floor, open landing, constructed above the shed roof, to a central north, second floor entrance. The west and north openings of the shed roofed appendage below have been blocked in. Fenestration for the west side of the south section of the building, facing south on the north side of Main Street, is rectangular and double-hung, holding two-over-two lights. Its west wall holds a second floor window and circular attic vent. The east section of the south elevation holds two second floor, one-over-one light windows with a circular attic vent. Its east wall holds one first floor, two-over-two light window in its north bay, and two second floor, similar windows above.

Along the entire south facade of the frame building and its east and west walls, extending some two feet to the east and some six feet to the west has been constructed a one story high, hipped roof, brick (laid in running bond brick bond) store front addition with tall brick parapet on its south facade. The east and south walls of its south east corner hold large nine and eighteen light storefront rectangular windows, surmounted by flat white lintels upon which have been inscribed in tall printing, Elkridge Pharmacy.

A nine light rectangular, south entrance is located west of the eighteen light window, flanked by fluted pilasters and surmounted by a flat wooden lintel and broken pediment. Another identical entrance is located in the west bay of this section. Between these two entrances rest two, double-hung six-over-six light first floor windows, underlined by header brick, projecting sills. The west wall of this brick addition holds three similar double windows, each component a six-over-six light window.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Elkridge Pharmacy Building is noteworthy architecturally as an ^{mid-to-late} early nineteenth century frame dwelling and historically as the "Frame house constructed by James Hill" mentioned in numerous deeds of surrounding property.

Though of modest scale and proportions, it is architecturally significant, providing a strong architectural anchor on the north-west corner of Brumbaugh and Main Streets, Elkridge. Its log ceiling joists, under girding the first floor, give additional evidence of an early construction date, shortly after the Old Baltimore-Washington Turnpike came through in 1817, following the present alignment of Main Street, Elkridge, from Furnace Road west across the B & O Railroad tracks, and on still further westward to its intersection with U.S. Route #1.

Although a one story high store front has been added on to the east, west and south elevations of the building, its original scale and proportions are an important element in the streetscape on the north side of Main Street, Elkridge.

Historically, the property belonged to James Hill, who owned lots on both sides of Main Street, Elkridge. Old deeds refer to a frame house at this location, built by James Hill. Since he acquired property as early as 1817, it is conceivable that this building could date from that period.

Historically and architecturally noteworthy, the Elkridge Pharmacy Building, in conjunction with the Main Street, Elkridge Area should be placed on the National Register of Historic Sites, the State Critical Areas Program, and included in any future local landmark legislation.
